The government set out its definition of 'British Values' in the 'Prevent Strategy' (2011), which was designed to prevent the extremism and religious radicalization of young people. British values are considered by the government to be;

- Democracy
- The rule of law
- Individual liberty
- Mutual respect
- Tolerance of those of different faiths and beliefs

The promotion of 'British values' is central to Catholic education because British values have their origin in the Christian values of our nation.

"We are proud that Catholic schools promote values that are both Catholic and British, including: respect for the individual, democracy, individual liberty, respect, tolerance and inclusiveness. Our schools promote cohesion by serving more ethnically diverse and poorer communities. Catholic schools provide high standards of education which are popular with parents from all social, economic and faith backgrounds."

Paul Barber (Catholic Education Service 15 December 2014).

At St Elizabeth's we provide an education that focuses on the formation of the whole person and on our vocation and purpose in life. We are guided by our mission statement;

- To be a sign of our Love of God and for each other
- To share the Good News with all we meet
- To live and learn together
- To make our world a better place for all
- To grow together in this love by doing the best in all that we do

We also take guidance from the Christian values of vocation and service, respect, compassion, co-operation and stewardship as we reflect on our place and purpose in the world.

We place a significant emphasis on the celebration of individuality and difference within our communities and our calling to work for the Common Good, in the service of others. Our Catholic ethos, which includes explicit reference to Christian and British values, makes a tangible difference to the way we work together and with our wider communities. Within this framework it would be impossible to overlook the government's view of British values expressed as 'democracy, rule of law, individual liberty, mutual respect and tolerance of those of different faiths and beliefs'.

The examples that follow are an indication of some of the many ways we seek to embed British values at St Elizabeth's School and should be seen as an indication of our approach rather than an exhaustive list. At St Elizabeth's, we recognise, not only the importance of helping pupils to flourish academically, but also spiritually, morally, socially and culturally. This approach ensures that they are fully prepared for life in British society and for their role as citizens, able to make the strongest possible contribution to the common good of all. We teach the importance of British values by going much deeper into the meaning of what it means to live a good life, within a framework of Catholic Christian Values. This provides the context and meaning for understanding why British values are important. Our framework for understanding British values draws on the example of Jesus and his welcome and inclusion of all, which is developed in Catholic Social Teaching.

At St Elizabeth's School we are committed to serving our community and local area. In doing so we reinforce British values regularly and in the following ways;

Democracy:

Democratic values are an explicit part of the ethos at St Elizabeth's and pupil voice has a high profile. All adults listen to the views of the pupils and respect their opinions. Pupils are actively involved in agreeing classroom rules and understand the rewards of following agreed rules and the consequences of failing to adhere to the rules that have been agreed. The Rule of Law:

The importance of laws and rules are consistently reinforced in the classroom, as well as through school assemblies. Pupils are taught to understand the need for laws- that they are there for individual protection, the responsibilities that this involves and the consequences when laws are broken.

Individual Liberty:

Pupils within St Elizabeth's are actively encouraged to make independent choices knowing that they are in a safe, secure and supportive environment. As a school we educate and provide boundaries for pupils to make choices safely, through the provision of a safe environment and an empowering education. We encourage pupils to see themselves as unique individuals able to make a unique contribution to building community. Developing their self-esteem and self-confidence is very important. Pupils are encouraged to know, understand and exercise their rights responsibilities and personal freedoms and receive advice about how to exercise these safely, for example through discussions of E-Safety and whole school responsibilities. All pupils are keen to support charities, whether local, national or global. They are taught consideration for other through our Religious Education curriculum and PSHE lessons in particular.

Mutual Respect:

Pupils and staff alike model respect. The school promotes respect for others, and this is reinforced through assemblies, our classrooms and other learning environments, as well as extra-curricular activities such as sport. In line with our commitment to democracy, pupils are always able to voice their opinions as we foster an environment where they can debate ideas and are safe to disagree with each other. We encourage pupils to communicate honestly and openly and to understand the value of co-operation and consensus as well as decision making through voting. Our emphasis on fairness and justice means that we ask our pupils to ensure that they look out for those who might be marginalised and disadvantaged. We work hard to promote anti-bullying through a focus on strategies to enable respect for difference and tolerance.

Tolerance of Those of Different Faiths and Beliefs:

As a Catholic worshipping community, pupils are equipped with the ability to develop positive values and understand their own beliefs within a culturally diverse society. We give our pupils the opportunities to experience such diversity within the wider community through visits, for example, to the local Hindu Temple and through members of different faiths or religions being invited to school to share their knowledge and enhance learning within assemblies and in class. Assemblies and class work promote the diversity of society and the right for each person to be respected and valued equally regardless of ability, gender, faith, heritage or race. St Elizabeth's promotes all requirements within the Equality Act and employs a Catholic Ethos advocate who contributes to the pupils' acknowledgment and understanding of cultural differences and individual spirituality.

Training and Development:

St Elizabeth's delivers a comprehensive training programme for its staff, with the staff and Governors undertaking the PREVENT training.

Maintaining:

This policy will be reviewed further in January 2025 to further reflect a wider curriculum planning.
